What organization did you found, and what is its mission?
In 2002, fueled by a deep desire to give back to my community, I founded the Ryan Cameron Foundation (RCF) with a clear and noble mission. RCF is a purpose-driven organization committed to helping underserved youth transition into adulthood with the necessary tools and resources to thrive. Our programs are designed to provide comprehensive support, encompassing health screenings, fitness and nutrition education, violence prevention, and leadership training, to empower young minds and pave the way for a brighter future.

How has your foundation made a difference in the community?
The impact of the Ryan Cameron Foundation has been profound and heartening. Through our various programs, we have had the privilege of touching the lives of thousands of young people in Atlanta, providing them with essential life skills and guidance to navigate the challenges they face. The Leadership Academy program, in particular, has been a beacon of hope, producing a Gates Millennium Scholar, a testament to the life-changing opportunities we offer to deserving students.

How have you been recognized for your contributions to the community?
My dedication to serving the community has not gone unnoticed, and I am deeply grateful for the recognition and accolades I have received. In 2015, Atlanta Magazine bestowed upon me the honor of being ranked as one of the 55 Most Powerful People in Atlanta, GA, a humbling acknowledgment of the positive influence and impact I've had on the lives of people around me. As I continue to be committed to the betterment of my community, I am reminded that true success lies in making a difference and being a source of inspiration to others. I am truly humbled and honored to be considered a true legend, beloved by my community and respected by my peers.
