

Press Release

Black Fashion Designers Highlighted in Luxury Retail Store in Celebration of Black History Month.

2/8/2023-Atlanta, GA Dr. Courtney A. Hammonds has partnered with Neiman Marcus Atlanta creating an exhibition featuring African American Designers. The collection showcases samples from each of the designers collections in honor of Black History Month. Dr. Courtney A. Hammonds and Dr. Dionne Boyd curated the collaboration, both of whom worked at Neiman Marcus in previous years. The featured artists are Joshua Casey, Rod Gilchrist, Latiff Rashad, Yvette Crocker, William Floyd, Zuri Love, JLT Dickens and Omotayo Tinubu.

"We are very excited to see these brilliant designers being highlighted for their fantastic work. We look forward to seeing more from each designer in the future," states Dr. Hammonds.

About Dr. Courtney A. Hammonds

Courtney A. Hammonds, hailed as "The Dean of Fashion", is a multidimensional storyteller with 20 plus years of expertise across the fashion, academic and human resource sectors.

In addition to chairing global councils, he established his consultancy, CAH & CO., to advise brands, institutions, fashion weeks and governments around the world. Hammonds has also authored five books covering fashion, style and philanthropy.

Hammonds is a seasoned editor and journalist with considerable fashion, media, and academic experience, including time spent as a fashion editor at Hers Magazine and Sheen Magazine. He has contributed to several notable brands including the Reader's Digest, Instyle and more.

Most recently, Upscale magazine's appointed, Dr. Hammonds as their new Fashion Editor.

For interviews, contact L. Nelson at pr@aoagwllc.com

